Internet Delivered Products

Internet Delivery Service (IDS™) (Patent Pending)

The ability to interact effectively with people may be the difference between success or failure in our work and personal life.

“Effective interaction begins with an accurate perception of oneself.”

The Internet Delivery Service is a complete family of our Managing For Success® reports and more. This service provides Internet access to any of the included MFS reports on a per report basis via the Internet 24/7. Participants respond to the online questionnaire and the Internet Delivery Service scores and delivers the reports automatically without any additional administration time.

Because of its ease-of-use, the Internet Delivery Service is a perfect choice for those who are interested in cutting administrative time. The data collected by the Internet Delivery Service can be exported to the Managing For Success Software Collection.

The Managing For Success reports are generated from individuals' responses to the various TTI Instruments, and quantifies information on how we perceive ourselves and others. Through personalized information, respondents have the opportunity to immediately increase their knowledge of themselves and others resulting in increased effectiveness and productivity.
